AUTISM SPECTRUM DISORDERS
A Mini-Conference for School Administrators

School administrators play a key role in creating a mind-set within their school district, region, or school as to how school personnel approach various challenges they may encounter when working with students and families with Autism Spectrum Disorders.

In many instances, a school administrator can provide certain accommodations for students with disabilities, as well as guide decisions regarding how teachers address behavioral challenges. The decisions of a School Administrator are impactful.

This one-day mini-conference will provide school administrators with useful and practical suggestions and strategies that can increase student achievement, engagement, positive behavior, and social skills.

About Your Presenter

Brenda Smith Myles, Ph.D, a consultant with the Ziggurat Group, the National Professional Development Center on Autism Spectrum Disorders, and the Education and Treatment Services Project for Military Dependent Children with Autism, was the recipient of the Autism Society of America’s Outstanding Professional Award; the Princeton Fellowship Award; and the Council for Exceptional Children, Division on Developmental Disabilities Burton Blatt Humanitarian Award.

She has written over 150 articles and books on autism spectrum disorders, including High-Functioning Autism and Difficult Moments and Asperger Syndrome and Adolescence: Practical Solutions for School Success. The latter was the winner of the Autism Society of America’s Outstanding Literary Work.

Brenda has made over 500 presentations all over the world, and served as the co-chair of the National ASD Teacher Standards Committee. Myles is also on the executive boards of several organizations, including the Organization for Autism Research and MAAP Services Inc. In addition, she was acknowledged as the second most productive applied researcher in ASD in the world from 1997 to 2004.
